4.2.3 UMC is authorized (1) to create and maintain branding and style guides with which all university advertising must comply and (2) to develop and oversee all procedures in which UVU entities develop, approve, and disseminate advertising.

4.2.4 UMC ensures all advertising activities and materials do not interfere with the academic mission of the University. UMC also ensures that the income gained from advertising activities held on campus benefit the University and that the funds are allocated to the appropriate university entity.

4.3 Legal Compliance

4.3.1 Those conducting advertising activities must comply with applicable government laws and regulations, industry best practices and codes of conduct established by UMC within the UVU Advertising Guide. This includes but is not limited to consumer protection laws, privacy regulations, truth in advertising, applicable advertising standards set by regulatory authorities, and any internal or external policies governing advertising practices. (See section 5.4 for review requirements for all advertising.)

4.3.2 Those who violate this policy may be subject to performance measures and sanctions under the applicable disciplinary procedure (Policy 649 for most faculty and Policy 371 for most staff; Policy 541 for students) and any other applicable corrective measures such as appropriate actions required by state and federal law.

4.4 Reporting Concerns related to Advertising Standards

UMC is responsible for timely review and response to advertising-related issues, which may include removing, modifying, or providing context of the advertising content to maintain brand and policy alignment (See UVU Advertising Guide.)

4.4.2 UMC's advertising compliance process is distinct from UVU's EthicsPoint system. EthicsPoint is an independent, third-party reporting tool administered by Internal Audit and used for reporting suspected violations of law, unethical conduct, or gross mismanagement (such as financial fraud or abuse of authority). Advertising issues not rising to that level should be directed to UMC to ensure a timely and appropriate resolution.

UTAH VALLEY UNIVERSITY

Policies and Procedures

4.4.3 If an advertising concern also includes allegations of unethical behavior or potential fraud, individuals may submit reports to both UMC and EthicsPoint. UMC and Internal Audit will coordinate as needed to ensure both brand integrity and institutional accountability are upheld.

4.5 Copyright and Other Intellectual Property Rights

4.5.1 All parties must ensure that their advertising materials respect intellectual property rights, including copyrights, trademarks, and patents, in accordance with UVU Policy 136 Intellectual Property. The use of third-party copyrighted content or trademarks must be done with proper written authorization or within the bounds of fair use.

4.6 Acknowledgements and Endorsements

4.6.1 University entities may offer acknowledgements. Consistent with the definition provided in section 3.1, an acknowledgement of support, gifts, grants, donations, assistance, and sponsorship must not include an endorsement by the University, department, organization, program, unit, or its employees.

4.6.2 When using acknowledgements or testimonials in advertising, university entities must clearly disclose if these acknowledgements or testimonials are from actual users or individuals with relevant knowledge and expertise. University entities must disclose any compensation or benefits provided to those who provide acknowledgements or testimonials. False or misleading acknowledgements or testimonials must be strictly avoided.

4.6.3 The University, including all campus departments, organizations, programs, units, or employees are prohibited from lending the University's names, nicknames, brand, and assets to the endorsement of persons, political candidates or organizations, or commercial enterprises, services, or products because it could be construed as university support or endorsement of a third-party.

4.6.4 Notwithstanding section 4.6.3, the University's trademark-licensing department is authorized to manage a licensing program that permits approved third parties to use the University's names, brand, and assets in accordance with established licensing agreements and guidelines. This program ensures the proper use of University's names, trademarks and assets while protecting the University's reputation, compliance with the University's tax-exempt status, and adherence with applicable policies.

4.7 Permitted Advertising

4.7.1 Permitted forms of advertising include brand-promotional advertising, paid advertising, donated advertising, and university internal/owned advertising. University entities must ensure that all permitted advertising aligns with the University's mission and is compliant with university policies, including this one, and applicable state laws.

UMC reserves the right to reject or remove any third-party advertisements that are deemed inappropriate or incompatible with university objectives.

4.10 Donated or Charitable Advertising

4.10.1 Advertising versus Qualified Sponsorship. Any university entity working with a third-party organization to advertise on campus may not classify such advertising as a qualified sponsorship; this classification may only be made in accordance with current IRS regulations and Policy 234 by personnel specified in that policy. See Policy 234 Qualified Sponsorships.

4.10.2 Donated Advertising Placement to the University. Advertising placement may be provided as a gift to the University, but the IRS considers the donation of advertising space (placement) a service, which is not a tax-deductible gift (charitable contribution). This form of advertising does not go through the UVU Foundation and does not qualify for a charitable receipt. (See IRS Publication 526.)

4.10.3 Donated Advertising Placement from the University. Advertising donated by university entities to show support for organizations (for-profit or non-profit organizations) is not an appropriate advertising expense.
